1. Objective

This Instruction defines the framework for how we in Danica Pension integrate exclusions in our investment management processes on basis of sustainability-related considerations.

Our approach to responsible investment is based on the principle of Double Materiality meaning that we therefore consider sustainability factors from the perspective of:

- 1. Financial Materiality: Protect the value of our investments and generate attractive returns.
- 2. Environmental and Societal materiality: Reduce the negative impacts and maximize the positive impacts that our investments have on society.

The Instruction operationalises our general commitment to consider and prioritise the principal adverse impact that our investment decisions may have on society prioritised through investment products under management in accordance with the Responsible Investment Policy.

The Instruction also works to protect the value of our clients' investments in that exclusions defined by this Instruction limit exposures to issuers negatively impacted by sustainability factors to the extent applied by relevant products.

2. Definitions

The below definitions apply to the terms used throughout the Instruction. Any term not defined herein shall have the meaning ascribed to it in the Responsible Investment Policy.

3. Scope

The Instruction applies to investment management activities of Danica Pension as covered by the Responsible Investment Policy. Exclusions governed by this Instruction are applied to different degrees and in different combinations by investment products managed by Danica Pension. We strive to maintain certain baseline exclusions applicable to all investment products. In addition, we have extended criteria which is applied to Danica Balance Responsible Choice. The extent to which an exclusion applies to a given investment products is outlined in pre-contractual disclosures of that products.

The Instruction covers direct investments in instruments (e.g., equity, bonds) issued by issuers that are excluded per the exclusions outlined in this Instruction. This also includes labelled sustainability bonds issued by excluded issuers. Affiliation to an excluded issuer does in principle not trigger an exclusion of instruments issued by such affiliated entity. Sovereign based exclusions can also capture other related issuers such as state-owned enterprises.

The Instruction does not apply to investments in derivatives such as index derivatives or other broadbased derivatives. Subject to the binding elements of a given investment product, indirect investments in issuers through underlying funds are in scope of this Instruction.

Exclusions covered by this Instruction are supplemented by statutory restrictions/bans on investing in issuers targeted by sanctions as governed through Danica Pension's AML/CTF and Sanctions Policy.

3.1. Target group

This Instruction applies to all employees, functions, and units in Danica Pension that are involved in or oversee investment management activities. The Instruction is also applicable to any employee, function and/or units in Group subsidiaries if adopted and/or incorporated by the subsidiary in accordance with applicable governance rules.

4. Exclusions

For the investment products, we make available, we apply three different categories of exclusions aimed to reduce exposures to investments that respectively:

- are involved in activities and or with a conduct harmful to society;
- are involved in activities with negative climate impact; or
- are involved in non-ethical and/or controversial activities

Exclusions captured by these categories are outlined in the table, with the reservation that certain clients might requests to have specific exclusions not listed below added to these categories. Whether an exclusion within a category applies to a managed investment product is outlined in the pre-contractual disclosures of that given product.

<sup>9</sup> Observation and exclusion of companies | Norges Bank Investment Management (nbim.no)

Multi-asset investment products leveraging external funds should to the extent possible not have exposure towards investments excluded.

External fund due-diligence is carried out in order to assess alignment with applicable exclusion criteria and are subject to ad-hoc screening. From time-to-time there might be excluded investments in such products if an exemption for the specific investment in the product made by an external underlying fund has been approved by the Responsible Investment Committee and disclosed.

Also, the Responsible Investment Committee might in other extraordinary circumstances be asked to approve that an excluded investment is not divested from one or more managed investment products, if such sale at the given time may have adverse effect on other fiduciary duties owed to customers invested into the product.

5. Data sources

Data sources used for exclusions are assessed by the Responsible Investment team in Danica Pension on a continuous basis. The assessments include, but are not limited to, assessments on data coverage, data quality, methodology, costs, and other Danica Pension operational considerations.

No universally accepted framework (legal, regulatory, or others) currently exists in relation to sustainability-related data, information, and assessments. As a financial institutional investing globally in different asset classes, Danica Pension strives to the extent possible to leverage primary reported data and information. Where such is not available, best efforts are made to obtain data, including data estimates, information, and assessments through third-party providers or directly from investee companies, and/or by carrying out additional research or making own reasonable assumptions/estimations.

Sustainability-related data, information, and assessments is therefore not comparable to that of financial information. This implies a risk of misrepresentation of data on sustainability-dimensions or impacts associated to an investment. Despite diligent due diligence in the onboarding of data and other resource and cost proportional considerations in place to ensure the accuracy, completeness, and reliability of the data, it not possible to verify nor guarantee, directly or indirectly, the complete correctness of the underlying data. Therefore, a certain margin of error is still to be expected.

How sustainability-related data, information and assessments are utilized is subject to the specific models, methodologies, and processes applied and governed by Danica Pension's Responsible Investment Policy, Instructions as well as Guidelines.

The Responsible Investment team is responsible for selecting the data source most relevant to each exclusion category.

6. Governance

Any changes to exclusion lists impacting Danica Pension Asset Management or Danica Pension are subject to approval by the Danica Chief Investment Officer.

The Responsible Investment Committee further endorses changes made to exclusion criteria on basis of advice from relevant functions with its effectiveness being subject to approval by the Head of LC&I, Dan ske Bank.

7. Implementation

Exclusion list is updated on a bi-annual basis unless a review is triggered by other events.

A decision to exclude a company/issuer is implemented no later than on the first bank day of the second month following a decision by the Responsible Investment Committee to exclude. Once implemented, divestments of direct investments should be made within five working days. For indirect investments, divestments are to be made within reasonable time, taking into account aspects such as fiduciary duties, committee schedules, operational implications, and substitution options.

If selling is not possible for liquidity reasons, divestments will be put on hold pending the opportunity to sell at a reasonable price, holdings will be sold.

From time-to-time, updates may be done at other times than outlined above. This could be due to special events/situations, sanctions (impacting ability to sell-off) or due to operational considerations. Responsible Investment has the authority to decide on such extraordinary updates.

8. Disclosures

The list of excluded issuers is maintained by the Responsible Investment team and is to be published in the document 'Excluded Investments 'available on Danica Pension website.
